I turned away, through the new south door, into the May sunshine. The pergola was not commenced. In fact, I had decided not to build it till the following spring. Those beastly painters whom I had forgotton were going to ent up too much of, my slender capltal. Before me stretched the 250 feet of plowed slope which was to be my sundial lawn. At the end of it was my line of stakes, where the ramblers were to climb. Beyond that was the vegetable garden, newly harrowed and fertilized, where Mike and Joe were buslly workleg, the one planting peas, the other setting out a row of heets. The horse was not in evidence. I could linve him at last, to make my lawn! I ran around the house to the stable, put on the harness, hitched him to my new drag scraper, and drove him to the slone.

The ground here slaped down eastward toward the brook, and if I was to have a level lawn south of my house, I should have to remove at least two feet of soll from the western end and deposit it on the eastern end. I wisely decided to start close to the house. Hauling at the bandles of the heavy, scraper and yelling "Back up, there!" at the horse, I got the steel scoop into the ground at the line of my proposed grape arbor, tipped down the blade, and cried, "Giddupl", I hung to the reins as best I could, twisting them about my wrist, and the horse started obediently forward. The secon did its work very nicely. In fact, it was quite full after we had gone six feet, per. and I had only to let the horse drag it the remaining 04 feet of the proposed width of the lawn, and empty it. Federal Inquiry or Railroad Strike?

Faced by demands from the conductors, engineers, firemen and brakemen that would impose on the country an additional burden in transportation costs of $100,000,000 a year, the railroads propose that this wage problem be settled by reference to an impartial Federal tribunal.

With these employes, whose efficient service is acknowledged, the railroads have no differences that could not be considered fairly and decided justly by such a public body.

Railroads Urge Public Inquiry and Arbitration

The formal proposal of the railroads to the employes for the settlement of the controversy is as follows:

"Our conferences have demonstrated that we cannot harmonize our differences of opiolon and that eventually the matters in controversy must be passed upon by other and disinterested agencies. Therefore, we propose that your proposals and the proposition of the railways he disposed of by one or the other of the following methods: 1. Preferably by submission to the Interstate Commerce Commission, the only trihunal which, by reason of its accumulated information bearing on railway conditions and its control of the revenue of the reilways, is in a position to consider and protect the rights and equities of all the interests affected, and to provide additional revenue occessary to meet the edded cost of operation in case your proposals are found by the Commission to be just and reasonable; or, in the event the Interstate Commerce Commission, annut, under existing laws, act in the premises; that we jointly request Congress to take such action as may be necessary to enable the Commission to consider and promptly dispose of the questions involved; or 2. By arbitration in accordance with the provisions of the Federal law!! (The Newlande Act).

Leaders Refuse Offer and Take Strike Vote

Leaders of the train service brotherhoods, at the joint conference held in New York, June 1-15, refused the offer of the railroads to submit the issue to arbitration or Federal review, and the employes are now voting on the question whether authority shall be given these leaders to declare a nation-wide strike.

The Interstate Commerce Commission is proposed by the railroads as the public body to which this issue ought to be referred for these reasons:

of railroad conditions has such as unquestioned position io the public confidence.

The rates the railroads may charge the public for transportation are now largely fixed by this Govern-

Out of every dollar received by the railroads from the public nearly one-half is paid directly to the employes se wages; and the money to pay increased wages can; come trois no other source than the rates paid

The Interetate Commerce Commission, with its comtrol nver rates, is in a position to make a complete investigation and render such decision se would protect the interests of the railroad employee, the owners of the railroads, and the public.

A Question For the Public to Decide

The railroads feel that they have no right to grant a wage preferment of $100,000,000 a year to these employes, now highly paid and constituting only one-fifth of all the employes, without a clear mandate from a public tribunal that shall determine the merits of the case after a review of all the facts,

The single issue before the country is whether this controversy is to be settled by an impartial Government inquiry or by industrial warfare.

The diver also carries a message from Emperer William to President Wilson and a large amount of mail, and is to carry back home a similar amount of alckel and crude rubber, sorely needed by the German army.

She is commanded by Captain-Kairly and has a crew of 20 mea. Both captain and crew are drawn from the, German merchant fleet and not from the navy. The craft is unarmed and is being treated by the United States like noy other merchant ship.

It is said that she submerged whenever she saw any vessel, on the chance that it might be a warship. The Eng-Hsh government was not among those who regarded the transatiantic submersible as a joke, and the report is that the Deutschland was chused for 30 hours by English and French warships. She sabmerged and cluded them by travelling out of her course S00

BROOKLYN TALE

Buffered in Chamber of Horrors Until Worn to Skin and Bones-Mother Sald Sun Wasn't Good for Them.

Brooklyn.-One of those weird tales that give the reader a thrill of horror and at the same time challenge beller camo to light horo the other day. It concerns three women, Mrs. Emmn Haii and her two daughters, Frances and Florenco, who were content to imprison themselves in two small rooms without seeing the light of day for two years. Neighbors recently heard voices in the rooms, high pitched like those of children, crying and mouning and notified the Children's society that something seemed wrong in the "house of mystery," as it was called, because no one was ever seen going in or com-

A House of Horrors. When the officials finally got into the rooms they were greeted by an asionishing figure. It was that of an old woman, little, white-halrod, bent, with skin like parchment drawn across the bones of her face. She wore a ioose calico dress, filthy beyond description. On her hend were three nightcaps, one above the other. Topping these was an immense sunbonnet. At a table sat the daughters. One was twenty-one years old and the other was twenty. But they looked twice their age. Their faces were pinched and white. Their eyes glowed fiercely in hollowed sockets. Their long black hair was matted and their called dresses, like their mother's, were ragged and grimy. They were so thinned by hunger that they welghed only about 75 pounds.

The condition of the rooms was in keeping with the frightful plight of the women. Strewn on the table before
